INTRODUCTION

The Jack Knox Papers, 1932-1978, consists of 544 original cartoon drawings, photo copies of his correspondence and papers that include some photographs. The original cartoons are found in 12 oversize boxes and are arranged in alphabetical order by cartoon title. The papers are contained in two Hollinger boxes and one oversize box. This collection was donated to the Tennessee Historical Society by Mrs. Jack (Edith) Knox in 1981.

Additional correspondence can be found on microfilm in the Jack Knox Correspondence, 1938-1980, collection, Microfilm Accession Number 1081. Additional cartoons, scrapbooks, and correspondence can be found on microfilm in the THS Jack Knox Collection, Accession Number 676.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings of the Jack Knox Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Jack Knox Papers, 1932-1978, represent the work of a noted conservative political cartoonist who drew for the Nashville Banner newspaper. Mr. Knox retired in 1975 after 29 years with the Nashville Banner. His first big break as a cartoonist came with the Democratic National Committee during Franklin D. Roosevelt's first campaign. He drew the cartoons for a booklet entitled "Everybody's Political Primer". He became the Staff cartoonist for the Evening Tennessean in 1933. A year later he moved to The (Memphis) Commercial Appeal where he worked for 11 years. He joined the Banner in 1946. He had a showing of his drawings at the Parthenon in Nashville, a one man show at the Brooks Gallery in Memphis, and was invited to show at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. He married his wife Edith, in 1946 and raised four children, John, Phoebe, Joseph, and Britt. He died on February 23, 1985 at the age of 75.

The original cartoon drawings in this collection have been arranged in alphabetical order by the title of the cartoon. A table format was used in the Container List in order give a better description to facilitate searching by topics. The cartoons are broken down into 13 broad categories: Aeronautics, Charity, Defense & Foreign Affairs, Economy, Education, Holidays, Industry, Labor & Employment, Politics & Government, Recreation, Safety, and Seasons. Column three of the table includes descriptive key words that further describe each cartoon. This was done in order to use the "Find" feature for searching words in the MicroSoft Word computer program.

Mr. Knox wrote two books. Riverman which was published in 1971, depicts the living and working conditions on the Upper Cumberland River in the early 20th Century. Box 13, folders 15-17 contains materials related to this successful book. His second book was America's Tennessee Walking Horse, published in 1973. A copy of this small book, that was also illustrated by Mr. Knox, can be found in Box 13, folder 9.

Mr. Knox contends in his correspondence that his grandfather, Mr. Edward Warren Clark, was responsible for the salvation and restoration of the Civil War locomotive, "General". The Civil War event on April 12, 1862, was known as "The Great Locomotive Chase" and involved another famous locomotive, "Texas." James J. Andrews and a band of 19 Union raiders managed to steal the General for the purpose of destroying the railroad supply line between Atlanta and Chattanooga. Mr. Clark spotted the General waiting in line for the scrap yard in 1890. It was restored and displayed for the first time at the World's Colombian Exposition in Chicago of 1893. A considerable amount of information on this subject can be found in Box 13, folder 3.

The photographs in this collection have been relocated to Box 14. Some of these are photographic copies of his cartoons.

The greatest importance of this collection is attributed to the original cartoon drawings of this noted cartoonist. The correspondence in this collection includes a personal response letter from Dwight D. Eisenhower describing his feelings on how the war in Vietnam is progressing in 1968. This letter is probably the most important piece of correspondence in the collection. There are four personal letters from Lyndon B. Johnson that depict their close personal friendship. Additionally, there is correspondence from Vice-President Richard Nixon requesting one of his cartoons. The biggest weakness is that the cartoons are not dated. A second weakness is the correspondence and other papers are photo copies rather than originals.
